

Michigan Democrats Beat Bushes For New Party Chairman

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Democrats beat the political bushes today in search of a successor to State Chairman Zoltan Ferency, who is resigning in a controversy over national party policies and President Johnson.

Meanwhile, party leaders, appeared united in the belief that Ferency's views do not represent those of the majority of the party membership and that his resignation is in the party's best interests.

Ferency, who has suggested that Johnson might not be the best choice to head the ticket in 1968, said Tuesday he would step down "for reasons directly related to fundamentals of political philosophy, principle and procedures."

His resignation, submitted to the State Central Committee, which must pick a successor, will be effective Jan. 15 or upon selection of a new chairman, whichever comes first.

The 45-year-old attorney said it had been made clear to him "by almost unanimous, if not completely unanimous action" by the state party leaders that they are committed to renomination and re-election of Johnson in 1968.

"I cannot in good conscience continue to act in the capacity of state chairman under increasingly untenable circumstances and conditions," he said.

Ferency, often a controversial figure in his nearly five years as chairman, has called for free debate on national issues and an "open" national convention—accusing the party's national power structure of attempting to "wire" the convention.

"If it's wired for sound and that sound is 'happy birthday LBJ,' count me out," he has said and has urged U.S. Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., to seek the 1968 nomination as an alternate to Johnson.

Ferency suggested state Sen. Sander Levin of Berkeley and party co-chairmen Patti Knox and Kenneth Hylton, both of Detroit, as possible candidates for chairman.

But the first decision the party must make is whether it wants a fulltime or parttime chairman, said Ferency, who is the party's first fulltime chief at a salary of $22,500 annually.

Levin, most often mentioned as a successor to Ferency, said he has "decided to explore thoroughly and vigorously the needs of the Democratic party at this juncture and the suggestion that I become a candidate for state chairman."

Levin, a 36-year-old attorney serving his second term in the Senate, said he felt the key is the fact that he is not up for election in 1968.

Hylton, the party's first Negro vice chairman, said he would be "interested," adding that a number of people have called and written asking him about his possible candidacy.

Hylton said he is polling members of the 85-man state central committee on the time and place for a meeting to choose a new chairman.

The meeting will be held before Jan. 15, he said, adding that it probably would come "late in December or the very first of January."

Mrs. Knox, wife of Detroit housing director Robert Knox, said she had been approached on the subject of the chairmanship, but "have given it little thought because there was no vacancy."

Ferency, in announcing his resignation, said the party leaders are "fully prepared" for President Johnson to be the dominant, if not controlling force in the assembly of platform planks, and in establishment of the 1968 campaign posture and theme of the entire party effort.

He added that he had no desire "to continue sounding the one-sour note in an otherwise well-rehearsed political symphony."

Ferency said "pressure" has been exerted by Democratic National Chairman John Bailey in the form of a letter sent to all county chairmen "saying Johnson is the candidate and it looks like we are going to have trouble with those who would rather be heard than helpful."

But he said he would "have no difficulty in continuing to support the Democratic party."

He said he would continue to do what he can to help Sen. McCarthy, adding that he supported McCarthy "only to the point I have urged Sen. McCarthy to be a candidate and hope he will do so."

Ike Urges 'Hot Pursuit'

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says the United States can win the Vietnam war and urges that U.S. troops be permitted to pursue enemy forces across South Vietnam's national frontier.

He advocated limited forays into the demilitarized zone to spike enemy artillery and not pursue "of enemy" ground forces, even when they seek sanctuary in neutral Cambodia or Laos.

Eisenhower said the pursuit principle should also apply to aircraft fleeing over Red China. He discounted the possibility of major intervention in Vietnam by either the Soviet Union or Red China.

The former Republican president and Allied commander during World War II spoke Tuesday night in a taped interview.

thing up more quickly."

At another point he said, "the first principle of war is to win quickly. I think that if you're going to appeal to force, and disregard all international means of getting this thing settled, then you get all the force you can as quickly as you can."

Asked if he thought it was possible to win the war militarily, Eisenhower noted the U.S. was always a defeatist. "People say, 'Oh, you can't win. What are we going to do? Better stop right here. Well, that's silly. And I say, of course, they can do it.'"

In the past, Eisenhower has repeatedly declined to recommend any specific strategy in the war. He said again in the interview, "I don't believe anyone is in a position that isn't living this problem all the time to criticize in detail the conduct of this war."

Congress Fears McNamara Shift Means War Stepup

Robert McNamara, Gov. John Connally, Cyrus Vance, and Paul Nitze. SPECULATION HAS centered on three men as possible successors to Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, who is resigning his key cabinet post to become president of the World Bank. They are Gov. John B. Connally of Texas, Cyrus Vance, former deputy defense secretary, and Paul Nitze, the present deputy. (AP Wirephoto)

Officials Deny Change Heralds New Viet Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's impending resignation is generating fears in Capitol Hill that he may have been pushed out as the first step of an accelerated U.S. war effort in Vietnam.

The board of the World Bank was to meet informally today to consider nomination of McNamara for the organization's presidency. It was not known if a decision would be made immediately or when McNamara might quit his Pentagon post if he is selected.

Some congressional sources greeted word of the defense chief's retirement with predictions a stepped up U.S. military drive in Vietnam is in the works.

And Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., questioned publicly whether McNamara is stepping out voluntarily. He cited some reports the secretary did not want to quit.

Kennedy, member of a family with close personal ties to McNamara, said it was important that Congress and the public "know really what is the basis" for the move.

Voice Of Restraint

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., called on McNamara in a Senate speech to stay on the job. He described the secretary as a voice of restraint in the highest councils of the administration and said if McNamara left there would be "a very real hardening of positions."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who has differed sharply with President Johnson over war policy, also said McNamara had imposed restraint on U.S. military leaders. He expressed hope a new defense chief wouldn't support an escalation of the U.S. military effort.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., discussing some of the privately expressed fears of his colleagues, told the Senate: "All this innuendo about this man being pulled out because we are going to get into a nuclear conflict is ridiculous."

Reports Denied

The White House, Pentagon and Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam, meanwhile denied reports a McNamara resignation would herald a change in Vietnam policy or that he was being dumped.

Asked about reports McNamara didn't even know he was being nominated for the World Bank post, a Pentagon spokesman replied: "I am not going to discuss the secretary's conversations with the President. But any implication that the secretary was not aware of the nomination is untrue."

The White House said through a spokesman that McNamara's resignation would not change U.S. war policy. And in Saigon, Westmoreland told newsmen he didn't "foresee any change in policy" on the war if the defense secretary does quit.

Some congressional sources predicted McNamara's exit likely will strengthen Westmoreland's policy influence.

Fund Not Aimed At White House, Declares Percy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Charles H. Percy insists there is no trace of presidential politics in an effort by his home-state Illinois supporters to raise $10,000 to help finance his Senate office.

Nor, said Percy, does the fund bear any resemblance to the one which exploded into political trouble for Richard M. Nixon when he was running for vice president 15 years ago.

"It's a mistake to compare them," the Illinois senator said in an interview.

Percy, who plans to leave Dec. 6 on a personally financed world tour, said again he is not a candidate for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

$100,000 A Year

In Chicago, Thomas J. Houser, a lawyer who managed Percy's Senate campaign last year, said a group of supporters is trying to raise a minimum of $100,000 a year to defray the expenses the senator faces in maintaining offices in Washington, Chicago and Centralia, Ill.

Houser said it is "simply erroneous" to consider the fund a part of any national campaign move in Percy's behalf.

He said Percy has spent $70,000 of his own money this year—his first in the Senate—to pay office expenses in excess of congressional allowances.

"Despite the fact that he has some personal wealth, this is a burden some of his supporters want to help him with," Houser said.

Percy became a millionaire in business before he turned to politics.

Allowance Inadequate

"I thought it was a very nice gesture on those people's part," said Percy. "The allowances here are simply inadequate. You just can't possibly maintain on a Senate allowance an adequate office for a state the size of Illinois."

Percy said he couldn't compute off-hand just how much the official allowance is. It is based on several factors, including the size of the state a senator is from and staff size.

He has a staff of about 40 but his official allowance is sufficient only for 22 employees. Percy said he already is putting his $20,000 Senate salary and all his speaking fees back into the cost of running his office.

No Secrecy

Percy said the money the Houser group is soliciting would be controlled by a committee, carefully audited and used to help cover staff salaries and expenses, mailing, printing, reports to Illinois residents and similar expenses.

Furthermore, Percy said, he will continue to put in most of the money himself. He said that and the lack of secrecy about the operation make it unlike the fund for which Nixon was criticized in 1952. He said only by "twisting the facts" can the two be likened. "So far, the support funds have all been put in by me," Percy said.

Air Aid Beats Off Cong Raid

SAIGON (AP) — Waves of Viet Cong troops assaulted a government district headquarters near the Cambodian border for 3 1/2 hours today and overran some of the 200 defenders before jet fighters strafed and bombed the Reds into retreat.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said 65 enemy bodies were found inside and nearby the perimeter of the district headquarters compound at Bo Duc, 80 miles north of Saigon.

He said 15 government soldiers were killed and 19 wounded.

Simultaneous with the ground attack only three miles from the Cambodian border, the Viet Cong shelled a government outpost four miles to the south and a U.S. Special Forces camp 10 miles to the south. Government casualties were reported light in those attacks, and there was no report of U.S. casualties.

The attack at Bo Duc continued a pattern of scattered Communist shelling and hit-and-run ground attacks that has prevailed since the end of the Dak To battle last week.

Elsewhere only small scattered skirmishes were logged in the ground war.

Over North Vietnam, U.S. Navy bombers on Tuesday came closer to the center of Hanoi than they have in some days.

Attacking pilots reported leaving secondary explosions and broken tracks in the railroad yards 1.7 miles northwest of the port city's center. They said they did heavy damage to the northern span of a rail and highway bridge a mile west of downtown Hanoi.

Both the yards and the bridge had been attacked before.

Gas-Electric Minicar May Curb Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal officials announced Tuesday the development of a gasoline-electric minicar concept they said is a breakthrough in the battle against city congestion and air pollution.

The car, as developed by the University of Pennsylvania with the help of General Motors Corp., would be about half the length of average-size American cars. It would seat three adults and have a top speed of 60 m.p.h.

The car could be built with existing technology and be in wide use in about five years, officials said.

With its battery-driven electric motor working in combination with a small gasoline engine, the little car would have about the acceleration of a Volkswagen sedan, officials said. And they estimated the cost would be about that of a Volkswagen—around $1,600.

Ease Parking

The minicar would be about the same width as a conventional-sized car.

Air pollution from the car would be about one-tenth that of present cars, officials said. Automobiles now produce about 60 per cent of the air pollution.

Secretary Robert C. Weaver of the Department of Housing and Urban Development said at a news conference that the little car would greatly reduce city parking problems.

The department sponsored the research project with a $300,000 grant.

An advisory committee told the Department of Commerce several weeks ago that steam cars hold the most promise for beating the air pollution problem.

But officials said Tuesday that the committee's findings did not conflict with those of the University of Pennsylvania because steam was recommended on the assumption that it was to power full-sized cars.

The minicar would have a range of up to 100 miles, officials said, and its battery would be charged by the gasoline engine during use.

The director of the project, Dr. Manfred Altman, said the car could run for short distances on its battery - electric system alone so it would not emit any fumes in tunnels or inside parking areas. It could also run on its gas engine alone.

Charles M. Haar, assistant secretary of housing for metropolitan development, said the car could reduce considerably the more than 30 per cent of metropolitan land area now needed for cars.

Altman said his research team is studying ways the car might be used and will have its final report next June and a prototype probably will be built then, he said.

War Fears In Cyprus Lessen

NICOSIA (AP) — U.S. presidential envoy Cyrus Vance paid his first visit to Cyprus today for talks with Greek Cypriot leaders on their opposition to virtual war or peace conditions set by Turkey for the protection of the island's Turkish minority.

Vance flew to Nicosia from Athens after a long day and night of consultations with the Greek government. Foreign Minister Panayiotis Pipinelis described the situation as "delicate and dangerous" but said he thought war with Turkey was "less of a possibility now."

The stumbling blocks delaying full agreement were believed to be largely matters of detail.

Insurers Asking Bad Driver Curb

LANSING (AP) — A crackdown on problem drivers has been asked by Michigan insurance industry spokesmen.

An "unfit or irresponsible minority of drivers" constitute a threat to the lives, welfare and pocketbooks of responsible citizens, members of the Michigan Insurance Information Service told Lt. Gov. William Milliken.

The group represents 16 Michigan companies who carry the bulk of automobile insurance in the state.

Paul Erickson of Detroit, chairman of the board of directors of the insurance group, said a survey showed there is strong support for more effective driver licensing control, traffic law enforcement and correction of the habitually reckless and alcoholic among the driving population.

Erickson said a survey of 1,000 drivers who had caused recent accidents showed one out of 10 are either uninsured or are substandard insurance risks.

The group said they are convinced there are four serious weaknesses in the state's problem driver control and correction program.

These were outlined as:

- Failure to prevent probably some 200,000 drivers a year from either ignoring the driver licensing law or defying traffic law violation summons.
- A too-tight and too-loose point system of driver license examinations, which does not act until a driver has become a serious menace to himself and everyone else.

—Extensive preoccupation by license appeal boards and courts with the economic necessity to drive, which results in quick license restoration to more than half of those who appeal when their licenses are suspended or revoked.

—Unrealistic treatment of alcoholic drivers, which instead of being directed at taking them off the road until they are cured, simply removes and restores their licenses repetitively.

Laws to correct these weaknesses need high priority action, the group said.

Milliken promised to bring the problems to the attention of those in the governor's office who will be shaping driver and safety legislation recommendations to the Legislature next year.

Senate Passes Clean Meat Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has pushed through a bill that would make some 15,000 U.S. meat plants adhere to federal purity standards and even a major opponent concedes the measure seems assured of House acceptance.

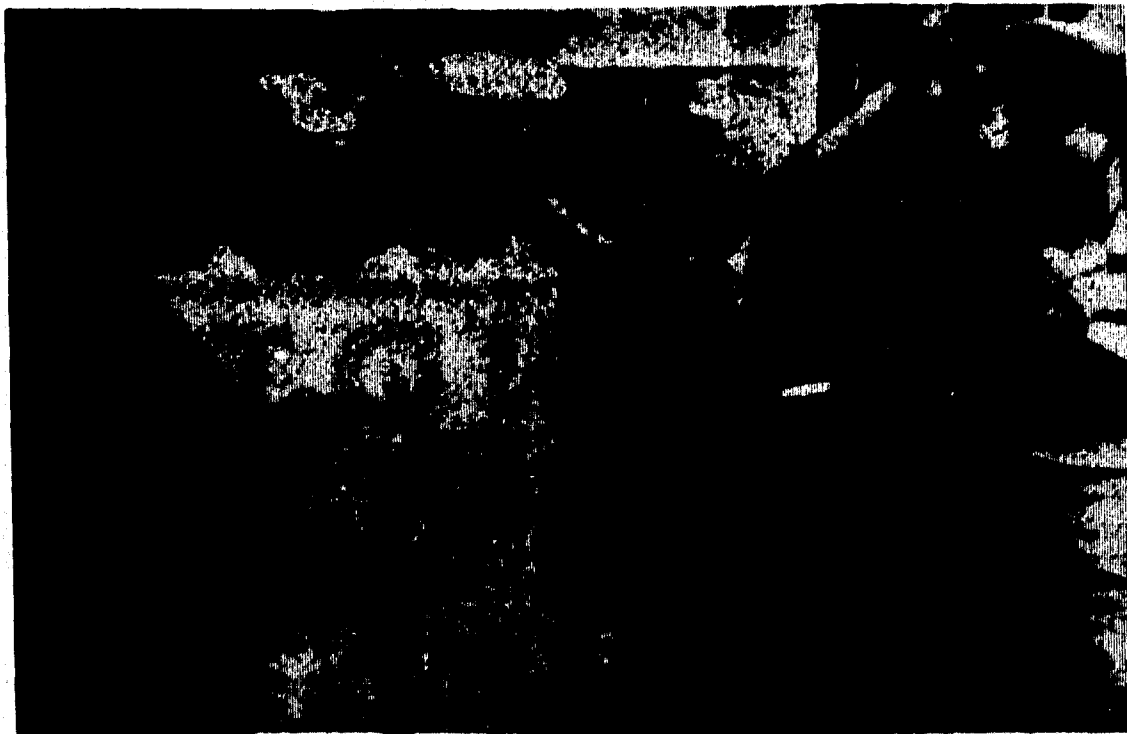

Chairman W. R. Poage of the House Agriculture Committee said Tuesday following the Senate's 89-2 passage of the meat inspection bill:

"This House is going to make a showing that they're for clean meat which in their opinion means federally inspected meat."

Poage said he remains opposed to the measure, which goes far beyond a House version approved earlier. But another Texan who is the main sponsor of the House bill said he would push for acceptance of the Senate measure.

Democratic Rep. Graham Purcell said he hoped a quick House okay would avoid publicity on current meat inspection practices which he said has hurt cattle prices.

The differences between the two bills must be ironed out in a Senate-House conference committee.

Gifts For The Boys In Vietnam

Esky Students Say Thank You

By MARY KNOLL

The students of Escanaba Area High School, through the "Operation Appreciation" project, played Santa Claus to 52 area servicemen who are presently stationed in Vietnam.

"Operation Appreciation" is the name given to a project sponsored by the staff of Escanaba Area High School's newspaper, The Escanaban. The project, which began to take shape approximately one month ago, is headed by senior Diane Olsen. The purpose of the project is "to send gifts to soldiers serving in Vietnam in the hope that those dedicated men may know that we at home stand behind them and applaud their efforts."

CHRISTMAS GIFT PACKAGES for area servicemen stationed in Vietnam are packed by members of Escanaba Area High School's Escanaban staff, who are working on "Operation Appreciation," a project designed to show the servicemen that they have the support and good wishes of

Sharon Thorbjornsen, co-editor of The Escanaban said "This project gives us a chance to show the servicemen that there's more to the Vietnam situation than draft-card burning, protest marches, and peace demonstrations. We have faith in them."

Students Raise Postage

The staff first collected names of the area servicemen stationed overseas. The majority of the names were turned in by students and obtained through the Army Recruiting Station.

Project workers then collected gift donations from students. Canned goods, candy, magazines, paperback books, playing cards and games (Pass-word, checkers, chess, etc.) were among the donations received.

Stores and organizations in the community contributed cash donations.

An "Operation Appreciation" dance was held Nov. 11 to raise money for the postage costs for sending the gift packages. Over 450 students attended the dance, and a profit of $250 was made.

Much Hard Work

Last week, the staff packed the gift items along with issues of The Escanaban and a letter explaining the project, into 52 boxes. These boxes were mailed during the early part of this week.

The students taking part in work on the project expressed much enthusiasm and concern for the servicemen and the project.

Miss Olsen said, "I think the project was worthwhile. I'm glad so many students showed so much interest in it. It's been a lot of hard work for all of us involved, but I'm sure we all felt it was worth it."

"The best part of the project was the satisfaction I got from knowing I was helping the servicemen have a better, happier holiday," said Jody Moses.

Will Be Continued

Said Linda Menard, "I'm

glad for the chance to show our servicemen that we're behind them."

"I'm proud of the students at Escanaba High and The Escanaban staff for the sincere effort they put into this project," commented Charles Dedie, Escanaban advisor.

After the coming holidays,

"Operation Appreciation" will be revived. Future plans, which are incomplete, include more money-raising dances and activities, sending more gift packages, donating money to the United Service Organization, and organizing a correspondence or pen pal club. Through the pen pal club, the "Operation Appreciation" group will write letters to servicemen stationed in Vietnam from all over the nation.

Speaking for all of the workers on the project, Miss Olsen concluded: "Through our work on Operation Appreciation, we hope to show area teenagers in a complimentary light, to prove that we can do something good and constructive."

Winter Parking Starts Friday

Escanaba's wintertime parking law will go into effect on Friday, Dec. 1. Police Chief Joseph Corcoran reminded motorists today.

The city ordinance limits all vehicles to not more than one-half hour parking on any city street from 2 a. m. to 7 a. m. through the months of December, January, February and March.

By having the streets clear of parked cars during hours of the late night and early morning, city crews are aided in the battle to keep streets plowed, it was explained.

Kenneth Tushak, public works department superintendent, said the work of removing snow becomes less efficient and much more costly if it is necessary to plow around parked autos. There would be considerable delay also in opening streets to traffic after a bad storm.

Treloar Dinner Tickets At Press

MARQUETTE — Brisk ticket sales were reported for the dinner here Wednesday night, Dec. 13, commemorating the retirement of W. H. Treloar, Marquette, publisher of Panax newspapers in the Upper Peninsula.

The committee in charge of ticket sales in urging early purchases in order to facilitate planning for the dinner, which will be held in the University Center, Northern Michigan University, beginning at 7:15 p. m. The dinner will be preceded by a social hour in the multi-purpose room of St. Michael's Church just off the NMU campus.

Tickets sell for $5 apiece and this price includes the cost of the social hour, which will be hosted by the Panax Corp.

Tickets for the Escanaba area are available from Ralph S. Kaziatek, business manager, Escanaba Daily Press, 786-2021.

Ticket committee members stress that women are invited to the dinner, which will honor Treloar for more than 42 years as a newspaperman, public speaker and civic leader.

Deer Herd Down Hunters Report

By MRS. ALBERT WELDUM

ROCK — The deer population has decreased in the Rock area according to the many hunters who have not filled their licenses. Some hunters claim they walk for days and do not even sight a deer.

Two hunting guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mannie have filled their licenses with bucks. They are Dr. T. R. Coughour and John Squires, Kirkersville, Ohio. Their friend James Ramboough was not so successful.

Other hunting guests at the Mannie home were Mr. and Mrs. Gunnard Nygaard. Thanksgiving guests were Dr. and Mrs. Richard Evinger and children of St. Paul.

Eugene Falck of Minneapolis, Minn., visited with his parents, also accompanied them to Oconto Falls, Wis., to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Panetti over Thanksgiving. He did some hunting in that area, but had no more success than many hunters in this area.

Harold Kegel Dies Tuesday

Harold A. Kegel, 67, of Lathrop died at his home Tuesday at 7 p. m.

Mr. Kegel was born Feb. 10, 1900, in Escanaba and was a former Gladstone resident. He had been employed 32 years for the International Harvester Co. in Milwaukee.

He retired two years ago, moving to Lathrop. He was a member of the Perkins St. Joseph Church.

Surviving are his wife, the former Mary Ann Leach, a sister, Mrs. Beatrice Denter of Milwaukee; two brothers, Frank of Milwaukee and John of Gladstone.

Friends may call after 4 p. m. Thursday at the Skradski Funeral Home. Parish prayers will be conducted at 8 Thursday and funeral services at 10 a. m. Friday at St. Joseph Church in Perkins with Fr. Edward A. Malloy officiating. Burial will be in the family lot in Fernwood Cemetery, Gladstone.

With The Deer Hunters

Bob Loodeen shot an 11-point buck at the Chet Manko Camp at Watson Tuesday.

While hunting at the Quaternary Lodge at Watson, Bid DeGrand downed a 150-point 8-point buck at 4:30 p. m. Tuesday, Nov. 28.

The Peterson families of Carney did well hunting. The Eugene Peterson's daughter, Linda, 18, got her buck, a 10-pointer weighing nearly 190 pounds at Camp B near Cedar River early the first day of the hunt and son Bruce, 15, a 6-pointer on the second day. In-law John Worden of Madison, Wis., shot an 11-pointer at the Petersons' White Birch Camp north of Spalding on Saturday and the Vincent Petersons' son Charles got an 8-pointer there the first day.

Off-Air NBC Programs Aim Of WFRV Project

Robert Southard, vice president and general manager of WFRV-TV of Green Bay, told the Escanaba Rotary Club at its luncheon program in the House of Ludington on Tuesday that his station seeks Escanaba's Channel 3 to bring its color television programs to the central Upper Peninsula for off the air pickup.

Southard said that WFRV's application for use of Channel 3 for a satellite station to relay its signal to the central U.P. is now before the Federal Communications Commission in Washington and that a decision is hoped for in February or March of next year. The application is being opposed by the Post Corp., which owns WLUC-TV of Marquette and WLUC-TV of Green Bay.

WLUC is the "local" station for television in the Upper Peninsula with all the protections that the FCC gives to such stations against competition from outside stations. It does not permit "outside" stations to duplicate the programs of local stations with simultaneous broadcasts.

Blackout Programs

WLUC is basically a CBS affiliate, rebroadcasting the programs relayed by WBAY-TV of Green Bay, a CBS affiliate, but also broadcasting some NBC and ABC programs. At present the only way to get consistent reception of WFRV programs in the central U.P. is by cable television and this must "black out" WFRV programs from NBC when they are being carried by WLUC.

Since WFRV has lost some of its audience by conflict with other Wisconsin stations (the Rhinelander NBC affiliate is closer to Iron Mountain than WFRV is, for instance, and is thus the "local" station for Iron Mountain) it is seeking audience elsewhere. This quest has brought it to the U.P., where only an estimated one-third of its potential audience now gets its programs because only one third of U.P. TV sets are served by cable television.

All Day Broadcast

If WFRV got the FCC approval and built a satellite station at Rumely, near Chatham it would not be subject to the current cable blackout of its NBC programs which duplicate WLUC's NBC programming. The satellite station would broadcast the whole WFRV programming. The satellite station broadcast the whole WFRV programming for the day, starting at 6 a. m., and continuing to 1 a. m., and would give the Escanaba area a less than city grade signal, but one which Southard said would be better than the present cable quality on NBC programs.

Northern Michigan University has also asked for Channel 3 to use for a non-commercial television to reach all of the U.P. except the Sault Ste. Marie and Ironwood tips.

"Our application is being opposed so we can't urge support," said Southard, "but we always welcome it."

Stations Serve Areas

He said WFRV has only 15 per cent of its listeners in Green Bay, that no television station is a one-city operation today. Brampton would be the community of identification for the WFRV satellite transmitter at Rumely, to care for an FCC technicality that it cannot be more than 15 miles from the city of original channel assignment — Escanaba.

Southard said television is the fastest growing of the communications media, with an increase in 15 years of TV homes from 15 million to 55 million, from 100 stations to more than 700. By the end of 1968, he predicts, a third of homes in northeastern Wisconsin and the U.P. will be equipped with color TV sets.

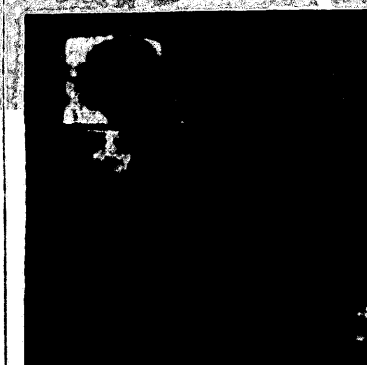

Southard said WFRV supports the new Corporation for Public Television and that "advocating non-commercial TV doesn't have to mean that you're anti-commercial TV. Broadcasting is bringing educational services to those who need them most — the undereducated. This has led Americans to embrace television strongly and to expect so much of it. Television has made today's five-year-old the smartest 8-year-old in history. It is a unifying force whose influence is to be felt around the world."

Seven Highway Jobs Completed

Seven construction projects on highways in the U.P. have been completed, it is reported by the Michigan State Highway Commission. They are:

- Nine miles of paving on three sections of M 28 in Alger and Schoolcraft counties; reconstruction of M 28 between Munising and Christmas in Alger County; one and one-half miles of modernization of M 203 in Houghton County.
- Bridge construction over Taylor Creek in Mackinac County; 13.5 miles of modernization on M 28 in Marquette and Alger counties; construction of a bridge over Little Iron River in Ontonagon County; and 2.1 miles of improvement on M 149 in Schoolcraft County.

Campus Crowds Cheer McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP) — It looked as if the campus intellectual had descended from the ivory tower to find himself star of the pep rally.

In the center of a crowd of sign-waving students stood a handsome middle-aged man whose gray hair was neatly trimmed and whose tall frame wore a conservatively dark suit and vest.

The man, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, 51, Democrat and senior senator from Minnesota, dissenter on Vietnam, challenger of President Johnson and overnight hero of legions of war protesters.

And the students, brandishing their hand-lettered signs reading "Young America (Unit) in Sen. McCarthy's 'Draft' Johnson," "Run, Baby, Run!" during a recent campus visit by the Minnesota.

Announcement Thursday
McCarthy is expected to announce Thursday whether indeed he will run—whether he will enter Democratic primaries in a "personal confrontation" with Johnson over the war and thus take the issue to the people.

In the sound and fury over his challenge of the President's Vietnam policy, McCarthy has been portrayed as hero and villain.

Critics have accused him of everything from bitterness and gross party disloyalty to seeking publicity to better the sales of his book, "The Limits of Power," and to increase the fees for his lecture tours.

Friends and supporters see him risking his political neck to force a referendum by primary on the war and of providing a rallying point for dissenters—the kind of dissenters who, as one fan put it, "don't wear beards, who do take baths and who don't write four-letter words on walls."

Former Professor
McCarthy—who, one writer observed, could "lead his way through the judgment gates"—is not the most likely figure to be at the center of such a fuss.

He has been variously labeled as brilliant but detached, moral but cynical, philosophic but bored. He is a Roman Catholic, a former professor and an intellectual. He does not assault windmills.

Where most politicians prefer the heavy, easily understood strokes of a broadsword in verbal combat, McCarthy uses the rapier tipped with irony.

Although McCarthy serves on three of the Senate's most prestigious committees—Foreign Relations, Finance and Ethics—he is not a member of the Senate's inner circle of power. Despite his 19 years in the House and Senate, many colleagues consider him a loner. He does not fit into handy patterns.

No Flip-Flop
In other days, President Johnson said of his fellow Democrat: "Gene McCarthy is the kind of man, as we say in the ranch country of Texas, who will go to the well with you. That's a homely way of saying you can count on him in dark days or bright ones."

Some feel the LBJ Ranch well water turned bitter in 1964 when the President left McCarthy hoping he would choose him as his running mate—then tapped McCarthy's fellow Minnesotan, Hubert H. Humphrey.

McCarthy's Vietnam dissent was not a flip-flop. In January 1966 he was one of 17 Senate Democrats who urged Johnson to prolong the bombing lull.

McCarthy's intimates say there is more than a war between Johnson and the man who once would go to the well with him.

Cites Tampering
For a long time, they say, McCarthy has complained in private conversation that Johnson has tampered with American institutions: hobbling the Senate and packing the Foreign Relations Committee when he was majority leader; weakening the Democratic National Committee; lowering the prestige of the Supreme Court by giving its members outside assignments.

But the focus of McCarthy's dissent is Vietnam. If he decides to enter the primaries—and many observers feel he has gone too far to back out—he says his aim would be to give voters an opportunity to exert enough pressure to cause Johnson to change his course.

Detroit Printers
Study Contract
Bid From Papers

DETROIT (AP)—Negotiators for the printers union today studied a new two-year contract proposed by the Detroit News and the Detroit Free Press.

The offer, made Tuesday by the two papers bargaining as the Detroit Newspaper Publishers Association, calls for a five per cent wage increase each year of the contract; the publishers said.

Weekly wages for composing room employees would be raised from $164.00 to $172.20 the first year and to $180.81 the second.

This is a very substantial good faith offer, which we hope will result in an agreement and contribute to an early end of the strike, which has closed Detroit's newspapers for nearly two weeks, the publishers said.

Teamsters have been striking the Detroit News since Nov. 16 and the Free Press has been closed since Nov. 17.

Contracts between Local 18, International Typographical Union, and the News and the Free Press expire on Thursday.

Negotiators for the Free Press and Teamsters Local 372 met today while the News met with representatives of the lithographers, photoengravers and stereotypers unions.

No new meetings have been scheduled between the Teamsters and the News.

Legion Plans Cheer Baskets

The American Legion is again sponsoring a project to provide Christmas food baskets to the distressed and needy veterans and their dependents in the community. It was announced today by Roman Gill, commander of Cloverland Post No. 82, Escanaba.

This has been a community service program of the Legion locally for over 40 years and is aimed primarily at needy children so they might have a Christmas and enjoy some of the goodies that go with the holiday season, he said.

C. Elmer Olson has been appointed by Commander Gill as chairman of the Christmas Basket committee.

The remembrance of those a little less fortunate at Christmas time is described by Commander Gill as typifying the Christmas spirit, "when holiday baskets carry a message of cheer and happiness."

What Money Buys

The man earning his living in Mathias Township near Trenary may think that England's devaluation of the pound sterling doesn't affect him, but actually it does.

The major currencies or money systems of the world are so complex and subject to so many influences that it is easier for the citizen without a satistical yen to just skip over mention of them, but while he may be shaky about understanding the situation in depth he ought to have a respect for it because it doesn't matter as much to him, really, what his money is worth of a raise in pay as it does what his money is worth.

England has devalued its pound (the British "dollar") from $2.80 to $2.40 — a reduction in value of 14.3 per cent.

It had no choice in its decision and the action came only after much desperate maneuvering to maintain the value of the pound without this drastic procedure. Devaluation was not only unavoidable in England's financial fix, but it was also accompanied by other drastic actions including increase in the loan interest rate from 6.5 to 8 per cent (to attract foreign deposits), reduction of $240 million in England's $5.3 billion defense budget, curbs on increases in wages, prices and dividends, restrictions on buying of automobiles, still higher corporate taxes, and new restrictions on installment buying and credit.

Devaluation is immensely unpopular politically and is done only in extremis. Who wants to have their pay cut 14.3 per cent? Who wants the other phases of the austerity which the Labor Government has ordered for the British people? But their money had lost value in world exchange and England, a trading nation without many natural resources and living on the skills of its people, had been buying and spending too much abroad. When it came to pay it was in trouble with too much of its money drained away by its foreign buying and spending. (It still maintains too much of a foreign establishment from its great days of empire and this helps overburden its shrunk purse.)

The devaluation was aimed to increase British exports because with the devalued pound they will be cheaper in foreign markets and hence more competitive and thus strengthen England's balance of trade. It will also reduce spending at home, which was putting pressures on the pound, because its people will have a sterling currency that will buy less.

Britain's hope of maximum financial rescue by its devaluation rests upon not having all the other currencies of the world similarly devalued. That would tend to cancel out the English advantage because other exporting nations would then be offering their goods cheaper, too. As it was some competing nations had to devalue immediately to keep their markets. They included most of the Scandinavian countries, Israel and Ireland, and more nations were expected to follow.

The greatest question created by the English devaluation was whether the United States dollar could weather the action. The dollar is the main money foundation of international trade and the chief reserve currency.

President Johnson said that the United States had no intention of devaluing the dollar and that it would continue to buy and sell gold at the existing price of $35 an ounce. Certainly Mr. Johnson won't want to devalue the dollar and everyone must hope that it will weather the storm, but hard money facts control such situations and not patriotism nor fiscal pieties.

Already the English action has destroyed the Anglo-American pledge that one nation would no longer devalue its currency without consultation because of the intricate international compacts to develop stability in currencies and exchange.

England has devalued its currency three times in this century and on each occasion a Labor Government was in power. First devaluation was in 1931 when it went off the gold standard in the Depression and second devaluation was by the Attlee Labor Government in 1949.

The current action could change England's chronic trade deficit into a surplus and bring it a boom of sorts, but there are too many influences that could upset the result to make it assured. For most Britons it's bitter economic medicine. They have voted for a type of government which has given them goodies beyond their means.

The lesson for America in the British crisis is that any nation's ability to provide a good living for its people is based on its capacity to organize its mechanical and human resources so that they can compete with the products of their efforts in the world's markets. England has failed to keep up its productivity; it has a laggard rate of increase in private enterprise and the largest increase in prices of its exports. British industry and the British government both failed to work hard enough and realistically enough to create a healthy economy. Now they have the devil to pay.

The United States is indulging in some of the same mistakes, most notably the constant increase in pay without concern about increased productivity. The United States has much greater resources than England and so the dollar is not under the severe pressures that brought down the pound, but it is not beyond strong influence by these flauntings of economic laws.

THIS IS THE HOUSE in Colonia Dublan, Mexico, where Gov. George Romney of Michigan was born and where he lived until he was five years old. Frank Robinson Jr., 9, and his brother, James, 8, are shown playing with their dog in the yard in front of the home where they now live. (AP Wirephoto)

Romney Birthplace A Calm Small Town

EDITOR'S NOTE — Governor George Romney of Michigan, who formally threw his hat into the presidential ring last week, was born in Mexico. His parents were U.S. citizens. Does he still qualify as a "natural born citizen" of the United States? Politicians and lawyers debate the point and a little town in Mexico suddenly becomes a factor in the quest for the presidency of the United States. Here is a look at Colonia Dublan, Chihuahua, Mexico, the town where Romney was born.

By ROBERT H. JOHNSON JR.
COLONIA Dublan, Mexico — (AP) — It is the Mexico you read about: harsh desert, tawny grasslands, vaqueros riding, blue mountains, villages of sun-baked mud. And then—can it be true?—prim, two-story, red brick houses with red-haired boys romping under the trees.

This is Colonia Dublan, Chihuahua—birthplace of George Romney, the man who could become the first foreign-born president of the United States. "Isn't it just like any other Western town?" said a plump, middle-aged grandmother with a note of civic pride.

Yes, but—Among the Victorian bricks squat Mexican adobe houses. Along the one paved street and the rutted, dirt side streets wander dogs, horses and ambling cattle.

Here is a school, rows of glass panes winking, sharply angled, low-slung contemporary, fenced with steel chain links.

And there in the school yard, herded by tall, fair-skinned teachers briskly calling good mornings in English to James and Estrella, the children line up for the flag ceremony. They stand stiffly at attention, right hands rigid over their hearts in knife-edge salute while they change the pledge of allegiance, in Spanish, and the autumn breeze unfurls the red, white and green—the flag of Mexico.

Mormon Harem
George Romney's parents, Gaskell Romney and Anne Pratt, grew up here as children of Mormons. Colonia Dublan was one of a series of colonies established as havens for polygamists in the 1880s by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. But the colonists, along with other Mormons, gave up plural marriage after the church accepted federal law and began excommunicating polygamists in 1890. George Romney's parents were monogamous.

In the fighting and fears of the Mexican revolution in 1912, Gaskell and Anne Romney fled with some 2,000 other Mormons into the United States in a movement unfailingly called The Exodus here, George Romney was then 5.

The U.S. Constitution says that the president must be a "natural born citizen." Romney is a citizen because his parents were citizens. He says studies in the past have shown that the Constitution was not intended to deprive children born of citizens abroad of their chance to become president.

But Isidor Blum, a former professor of constitutional law at New York Law School, wrote recently in the New York Law Journal that the authors of the Constitution meant born within the United States when they wrote "natural born." He traced this meaning back to the English common law of the 14th century.

Colonia Dublan is about 135 miles southwest of El Paso, Tex.—200 miles by highway—in a mile-high valley on the east side of the Sierra Madre Occidental.

It lies on the north edge of Nueva Casas Grandes, a commercial center of about 20,000 population. About four miles southwest of Nueva Casas Grandes is the original, now smaller town of Casas Grandes. Some five miles beyond Casas Grandes lies another Mormon colony, Colonia Juarez. Colonia Juarez each has a population of about 2,000. Of these, Church records show that as November began there were 263 Anglo-Mormons in Dublan and 389 in Juarez. The rest of the approximately 1,530 persons in the Juarez Stake—roughly the same as a diocese—are Latin Americans.

Practically everybody else in this cluster of towns is a Catholic with a Spanish-Indian Mexican background. The colonists keep up with events "out there" by watching two El Paso television channels and by subscribing to El Paso and Salt Lake City newspapers and U.S. magazines. When a television set breaks down, it is sometimes months before enough parts and skill can be gotten together to repair it.

Dennis Wagner, heads the colony's largest and most modern business—Wagner Bros., a farming, packing and distributing enterprise.

Remembers George
"We have more business than we can handle in Mexico," he said.

George Romney's Aunt Emily rocked in her sitting room in Colonia Juarez and smiled through a network of fine wrinkles that softly overlay the years. Yes, she remembered George.

"We didn't see him very much. It was a long way between Dublan and Juarez in those days. At parties in the only time we saw him. He was a real congenial young fellow. And he's still a fine young man."

The unlucky expert looked so dejected that we made the mistake of letting him inflict his latest tale of woe on us. We will never learn to dodge him.

Here is the lament: "In last night's duplicate we reached six diamonds with little or no trouble. East worried about his opening lead and finally produced the six of spades. East won with the ace after I played the king from dummy. He thought for some time before shifting to the four of trumps.

"He may have thought for a long time, but I thought a good while longer. Finally I decided to take an unusual trump finesse and played my deuce of trumps. When dummy's seven won the trick, I led and ruffed a spade, played ace and another club and ruffed in dummy. Back to my hand by the time other spade. Back to dummy with a second club ruff. I drew more spade ruff and I drew trumps and made the rest of the tricks because dummy's spades were set up. If I hadn't finessed the trump to get the extra entry to dummy, the ruff would have fallen on me."

We didn't quite understand that trump finesse. Maybe he was just practicing his finesse to see if they were going to work. All he had to do to make the hand would have been to win the trump in his own hand; play his ace of clubs and ruff a club, ruff back to his hand with a spade, ruff another club, ruff another spade; draw trumps and discard his last club on a high heart. We asked about this and why he claimed to be unlucky.

He replied: "I never thought of that play, but I still wound up with a bad score. At every other table a club was opened and each other declarer managed to ruff three clubs and wind up with an overtrick by discarding his singleton spade on a heart."

Soviet Using Israel War As Trade Spur

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Soviet salesmen, with Premier Kosygin in the lead, are working overtime to use the Israeli-Arab war and its aftermath of hate, fear and distrust in an attempt to wrest profitable trade deals from a number of countries in Western Europe and Asia.

In their proposals, the Russians play upon the fears of these customer countries that in future crises their oil or other essential supplies could be endangered if they depend too heavily upon Mideast Arab sources or on the Suez Canal being open.

Note that Moscow, after secretly baiting the Arabs into war by telling Nasser's men that Israel was planning to attack Syria, are taking advantage of the Arab defeat to steal customers from the Arabs.

The most unusual of these Russian attempts is Kosygin's proposal to Japan.

In essence, this Kosygin offer is a Soviet guarantee to supply Tokyo with sizable amounts of oil, copper, lumber, natural gas and some other basic materials Japan needs, in return for heavy Japanese investment and technical aid in the development of Siberia.

Japanese private capitalist firms would be expected to help in mammoth programs for the development of Soviet mines, lumbering, natural gas liquefaction and in the building of an oil pipeline thousands of miles long.

This would, if the Soviet Union has its way, amount to a multibillion-dollar private investment in Siberia (more than the Japanese firms have available) and huge amounts of Japanese technical know-how and machinery.

How a Soviet Communist economy and a Japanese capitalist economy could accommodate to such large investments has not been worked out.

The Soviet Union has other problems. It doesn't produce petroleum in the quantities Moscow proposes to supply Japan and the other countries.

This raises a question: Is Moscow planning to radically increase its own oil output, or is the Kremlin planning to move in eventually as a middleman in the sale of Middle East oil?

What is certain is that the Soviet Union is not finding it possible through Communist techniques and Communist management to accomplish long-range economic development at the pace capitalist Japan, Western Germany and the United States have maintained.

What is certain also is that the Soviet Union is playing its Arab allies for all it can get.

He says his wife means nothing to him and they have lived as brother and sister for three years. I believe him. He claims if it weren't for his children he would have left her years ago, even if he had not met me.

I've written registered letters to his wife. I've sent her telegrams. No response. I've called her on the telephone and her stock answer is: "I have nothing to say to you. Talk to Greg." Then she hangs up. She is a selfish, unfeeling woman who is clinging to the man I love just because she doesn't want me to be happy. Greg has told me repeatedly that he will marry me when the time is right.

Ann, I want to go to her home and talk to her in person. Then she will have to listen to me. I've been going with Greg for three years and I'm sick and tired of waiting. Please tell me I'm right if I want to get it settled NOW. — RSVF

Dear R: Your story is such a tired one I'm almost ashamed to print it. You are not only wrong but stupid if you think a talk with Greg's wife will settle anything. Your problem is not with her—it's with him, Dummy.

Greg doesn't want to marry you, and why should he? He has everything just the way he wants it—the respectable facade provided by a home and children plus a side dish for entertainment. This arrangement is a lot neater and much cheaper for him than a divorce.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have two good-looking sons. They are 20 and 22 years of age. Both boys have fine jobs. They live at home, pay no room and board, drive new cars, and they dress like English royalty with white shirts and cuff links. The incoming phone calls from the girls run me crazy. I feel like an answering service.

I am writing to ask you to please tell young, unmarried people to save some of their paycheck every week. My husband is a hard worker but we can't put away a dime on account of these boys. They keep mooching money off us and I am getting burned up about it. Please, Ann, straighten them out. Kids listen to you. — LOSING MY TEMPER

Dear Losing: "As the twig is bent, so grows the tree." Your twigs were bent to be selfish, irresponsible spenders and I can't pass a miracle that will transform them into feet-in-the-ground citizens by printing a few lines in the paper.

The only thing you can do now is to stop dishes out $9 to these leeches and get tough with them. Insist that each boy give you 15 per cent of his salary for room and board, laundry and telephone service. If they think they can live cheaper elsewhere, invite them to try it.

Confidential to A Wrecked Reputation: No responsible attorney would take your "case" because you have no case. Stop going all over town to track down the origin of the story. All you are doing is keeping the rumor alive. The best defense against gossip is to ignore it and let your performance speak for your behalf.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents, if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50c in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Copyright 1967, Publishers-Hall Syndicate

Swimming Program:

Pool Has Health; Recreation Role, Vardigan Reports

People used to think of swimming pools as luxuries reserved for a few wealthy cities. Today, however, swimming pools and swimming programs are playing an increasingly important role in recreational planning, and an ever-growing percentage of our young people and adults are enjoying the privilege of year-around swimming, reports Paul Vardigan, acting city recreation director.

A swimming pool in a recreation building is not an extravagance, he said. Physical development authorities have long cited the value of swimming for developing and maintaining the human body. More recently, the medical profession has recommended controlled activity in clean, warm water for individuals of any age who are arthritic or rheumatic.

"Physical education people claim that square foot to square foot, hour to hour, and year to year, no recreation facility can be more fully used than the swimming pool," Vardigan reported.

The swimming pool can do double duty as both community recreation area and water safety classroom. It can be used equally by boys and girls by young people and adults.

"Every member of a group can utilize this facility regardless of age or physical condition. While accomplished swimmers work out at the deep of the pool, the timid, the obese, the underdeveloped, the physically coordinated, and the physically and mentally handicapped are progressing, each at his own rate, in the shallow water. The whole group is exercising. Everyone is having fun. Everyone is learning," Vardigan continued.

Learn-to-swim classes, held on a year-around basis, will give every boy and girl in the community a chance to learn to swim before they enter high school.

A required physical education swimming program in which every student in grades 9-12 gets at least four weeks per year in stroke technique, survival swimming, and life-saving, is possible, he added.

After-school free play and recreational programs, American Red Cross life-saving programs, training for Boy Scout and Girl Scout swimming badges, a student leadership program, in which students assist with the teaching and supervision of every activity in the swimming program, competitive swimming, both interschool and intramural, and annual water show are other suggested uses.

Robert Hughes Taken By Death

Robert Hughes of Santa Ana, Calif., died Nov. 28 in Santa Ana. He was the former proprietor of the Dodge Sales and Service on S. 23rd St. in Escanaba.

The body is being removed to the Allo Funeral Home with funeral services tentatively set for Saturday morning.

Don't Take Lunch For Post In Deer Hunting

By LEE SMITH

There are books on how to hunt, white-tail deer. How to track, how to stalk. Little has been written on the art of sitting still for hours on end, which is the basic technique of deer hunting in Michigan.

To be included in the successful percentage of deer hunters requires a combination of temperament, know-how and luck. An old-timer, with an almost perfect record of a buck a year, was subjected to a series of interviews which yielded pointers of value to any deer hunter.

First, an obvious piece of advice, yet overlooked by too many experienced hunters. Sight in your rifle every year! Find a regulation rifle range, or a gravel pit or a steep hill and see precisely where your rifle throws lead, using the load you intend to hunt with. Experts favor a rifle sighted a trifle high at 100 yards. At close range, they pick a point of aim at the bracket hairline. However, an excited man is prone to overshoot so the average hunter might do well to make sure that his sights are properly lined up to put the bullet at point of aim at 100 yards or less, the range at which most Michigan deer are killed.

A SUCCESSFUL deer hunter is hunting every minute he is in the woods; hunting as he leaves camp before daybreak, hunting on his way back after sunset, rifle ready to leap to shoulder, resisting always the temptation to start concentrating after he arrives at a location he thinks is especially good.

Sitting on a runway, watchfully waiting, calls for a certain amount of stoic patience. Sitting still is cold work. Instead of wearing numerous layers of clothing enroute to a stand and working up a sweat, a sagacious sifter will carry jacket, insulated pants, a cushion, even a blanket to insure comfort during the vigil. Blanket over legs, lantern under blanket is a big help.

Some old-timers insist that a small warning fire does not alarm deer, although attention given the fire might well interrupt the continuous alert required of a deer sifter.

Eating lunch on a runway is another way to let the big one get by. A sack of raisins or hard candy will curb hunger and pass time. A smoker can convince himself that if he is giving due heed to the direction of the wind, smoke will not spook a buck.

OUR OLD-TIMER is mighty particular about the treatment given a deer that has become venison. He is disdainful—for no good reason—for the hefty hunting knife in a belt sheath. Says he never saw a native hunter totting anything except a sound jackknife, with an extra sharp blade reserved for dressing game.

Bearing heart and liver to camp, strung on a forked stick, is an ancient hunter's ritual. A deer has no gall bladder but attached to the liver is a dark tag—old woodsmen called it an "ear"—that has to be cut off.

Now and then you will see a north woods veteran facilitate the bleeding out of a deer by putting a bullet through the rib cage. A fastidious hunter carries paper towels or yards of muslin for mopping out the interior of a dressed deer, never using water. Comes a streak of warm weather, a wrap-around of muslin protects against unseasonable flies.

Nothing infuriates an old-timer more than seeing a deer in transport, draped over the hood of a car. On top of car, yes, with muslin or plastic for a dust guard.

Our old-timer is not in too great a rush to get his deer meat into deep freeze. Proper aging of venison, at temperatures just above freezing, brings out the true flavor and helps to tenderize a wiry buck.

Wood Project Leaders Meet Friday At Blaney

Michigan's proposal for a demonstration project in wood industry development will be reviewed at a meeting at 10 a. m., Eastern Standard Time, at Blaney Park on Friday.

Attending will be members of the Michigan Advisory Task Force to the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission, directors of Upper Great Lakes Timber, Inc., the non-profit corporation formed to sponsor the project, and persons interested in wood industry.

Gerald Harmon and Herbert Schott of Howell Realty, Inc., of Howell, Mich., owners of Blaney Park, invited the group to meet at the park, which has been proposed as a site for the demonstration project.

Officers of Upper Great Lakes Timber, Inc., were elected at the first meeting of directors of the organization in Sheboygan on Nov. 14. They are: Frank Hoholik, president and general manager, Mandistone Pulp & Paper Co., Mandistone; George Powley, Vanderbilt pellet manufacturer, vice president; William Wilson, executive director; Operation Action-U. P. Marquette, secretary; and Myron Riggs, president, Northern Michigan Development Council, Cheboygan, treasurer.

The corporation is sponsored by Operation Action-U. P., and the Northern Michigan Development Council, a similar economic development agency active in the top of the Lower Peninsula.

The new timber projects company was organized to demonstrate how the 30 upper counties of Michigan could upgrade their wood industries in a way meaningful to the economy of the state.

Chrysler Record Sales Predicted

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The president of Chrysler Corp. predicted today that the auto industry will sell a near-record number of cars in 1968 in the United States.

Virgil E. Boyd said that despite recent increases in bank interest rates the sale of new cars should exceed nine million autos in 1968. This would make 1968 the second nine million-plus year in industry sales history. In 1965, the industry sold 9,297,000 new cars in the United States.

Boyd's remarks were in a speech prepared for a meeting of the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce in Indianapolis.

"The outlook is admittedly clouded a little by the recent devaluation of the British pound and the resultant increase in bank interest rates," Boyd said. "But as we see it, if there is no additional dampening of the economy, automobile sales will not suffer appreciably."

The U. S. Census Bureau operates under the Department of Commerce.

British Cabinet Ministers Switch

LONDON (AP) — Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan resigned today in the wake of Britain's devaluation of the pound. He switched places with Home Secretary Roy Jenkins, who succeeds him at the treasury.

The switch brings to the British treasury one of the Cabinet's leading exponents of Britain joining the Common Market. Jenkins is believed to have favored devaluation of the pound for months before it took place Nov. 18.

Callaghan's three-year tenure at the treasury was dominated by his unsuccessful battle to avoid devaluation.

Rapid River

Successful Hunters

Successful hunters from the Whitefish Hunting Club Camp were: Jim Johnson of Rapid River, a six point buck on the third day of the hunt; Waldon (Punch) Johnson of Rapid River, a five point, on the second day; Larry Lundin of Ensign, an eight point; Everett Morrison of Munising, a three point buck; Bob Romar of Munising a spikehorn.

Leonard Nelson of Gladstone shot a trophy buck on the second day weighing 180 pounds, with nine points; Dr. Grossnickel of Munising arrived at the camp for one day and tagged an eight point buck before he left for home.

Harvey Deneau, hunting north of Rapid River, shot one of the largest bucks of the season, a twelve pointer. Deneau filled his license the beginning of this week.

Dr. C. A. Palin of Milwaukee hunted at the George Anderson camp near Bill's Creek in the Whitefish Hill area.

Bob Bezzi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bezzi of Rapid River was home for the Thanksgiving vacation. Bob is a senior at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant. Bob has completed his student teaching as a fourth grade teacher in the Mt. Pleasant Elementary Schools.

Mary Anderson has returned to the NMU campus following a Thanksgiving holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson of Rapid River. Mary, a senior at NMU has completed her student teaching at Webster School, Escanaba.

The Great National Pike, later called the National Road or the Cumberland Road, was the first road built with federal funds.

Extension Holiday Tea Well Attended Tuesday

The Extension homemaker's annual Christmas tea was held Tuesday afternoon at the Bethany Lutheran Church with a large number of members and guests attending.

Mrs. Jack Johnson, chairman of the Delta County Extension Homemaker's Council, was mistress of ceremonies for the program which began at 2 p. m.

She introduced Mrs. Gerald Martin who offered two Christmas vocal selections, "Jesu Bambino" and "Silent Night." Mrs. Martin was accompanied by Mrs. Kate Ottensman on the piano.

Mrs. Fred Schmitt presented a very interesting travelogue and slide program on Russia and Finland, where she visited this spring.

Concluding the program for the afternoon were the two Swedish students, who are attending Gladstone High School, Ebba Bondesson and Par Wahlstrom. They told of Christmas customs and traditions in Sweden, both past and present.

Various decoration and gift ideas from the area clubs were attractively displayed around the room and these included attractive tree ornaments, various types of wreaths and centerpieces.

Some of the outstanding articles were a tree and swan made from nylon net and attractively decorated; Santa Claus figures and bell plaques, featuring an orange bur-

Calvary LCW Units To Meet

Rapid River Calvary Lutheran LCW Units will hold their November meetings Thursday as follows: Ensign, 1:30 p. m., Mrs. Ted Kelly; Ogontz, 8 p. m., Mrs. Glen Lundin; Esther Unit, 2 p. m., meeting at the parish hall with hostesses, Mrs. Helga Stenlund and Mrs. Hazel Stenlund; Rapid River 8 p. m., at the parish hall with Mrs. George Olson, hostess.

The Alton unit met earlier this month at the home of Mrs. Ferdinand Sundberg of Ensign. The units will resume their usual meeting time in December, meeting on the second Thursday of the month. There will be no general LCW meeting in December.

Auxiliary Party Planned Tuesday

RAPID RIVER — The annual Christmas Party for Rapid River Walter W. Cole Legion Auxiliary will be held Tuesday, Dec. 5, 8:30 p. m. at the post clubrooms in Rapid River.

Games will be played, gifts exchanged and a potluck lunch will be served. All members are encouraged to attend this festive affair. Persons having questions concerning the party may notify President Mrs. Mary LaCrosse, 474-6650.

Ex-Priest Plans To Marry Nurse

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — James J. Kavanaugh, who renounced the Roman Catholic priesthood, said Tuesday that he plans to be married on Dec. 16.

Kavanaugh's bride-to-be is Patricia Jean Walden, a San Diego nurse. Kavanaugh, formerly of Lansing is author of the best-selling book, "A Modern Priest Looks at His Outdated Church," and now is a family counselor at the Human Resources Institute in nearby La Jolla.

To keep down the foam when cooking dried beans, add a tablespoon of butter, margarine or salad (not olive) oil for each cup of the beans.

Mary I. Arnold Bride Of Alton Lee Larsen

Miss Mary Ida Arnold of Rte. 1, Hermansville, became the bride recently of Alton Lee Larsen of Rte. 1, Vulcan. The ceremony was performed at the Grace Lutheran Church of Powers with Rev. Philip Kuckhahn officiating.

Mrs. Harland Hansen provided the traditional wedding music. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. William H. Arnold Sr., of Rte. 1, Hermansville and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Larsen of Rte. 1, Vulcan.

Cage Gown
The bride chose a floor length cage style gown of Rose-point lace over peau de soie fashioned with a cowl neckline, long tapered sleeves and a court train attached at the shoulders.

A crown of white roses held her elbow length veil of lace and she carried an arrangement of red roses and ivy on a white Bible.

Miss Donna Plunger of Hermansville was maid of honor for the bride and bridesmaid was Miss Joan Arnold, sister of the bride.

They wore floor length gowns of crepe and brocade with matching shoulder length veils attached to bow headpieces. The maid of honor wore aqua and the bridesmaid, pink. They carried bouquets of pink and white carnations.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Arnold wore a bonded

Calvary League Meets Tonight

RAPID RIVER — The Luther League of the Rapid River Calvary Lutheran Church will meet tonight at 8 at the church parish hall. The eighth graders will be received into the league as new members.

The evening's program will be presented by Laurel Greenlund and plans will be made for the December activities. Refreshments will be served. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Christoff advise the Luther League.

The newlyweds are now at home at 220 E. Hughtitt St., Apt. 5, Iron Mountain.

The bride is a graduate of Hermansville High School and is employed by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company in Iron Mountain. Mr. Larsen is a graduate of Hermansville High School and served four years in the U. S. Air Force. He is employed as a woodsman.

Events

TOPS Club
The Walt Watchers TOPS Club will meet at the VFW Hall tonight. Weigh-in will be at 7:30 followed by the business meeting. Fruit and menus will be collected.

we care

It's America's most popular! Why?

We think it's excellence of product.

Years and years ago, when we decided to bake Jane Parker Fruit Cake, we also decided to bake the best. That's why Jane Parker Fruit Cake was then and is today over 2/3 fruits and nuts.

Just enough delicious cake to hold together the bounty of cherries imported from France, pineapple from the Far East, citron from Italy, sun-drenched raisins from California and meaty pecans from the South.

We think, too, that value has made it popular.

IMAGINE, THE 5-LB. CAKE COSTS ONLY $2.99.

That's the same low price as last year which makes it an even greater value.

Now you know why Jane Parker Fruit Cake is America's most popular.

One other thing you should know: You can buy it only at A&P.

P.S. Wouldn't it make a great gift for someone?

MISS NANCY LINJALA, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Linjala of West Rock, has been awarded a trip to the 33rd annual National Junior Horticulture Association convention in New York, Dec. 3-7. Nancy, a member of the West Rock 4-H Club, received the trip by presenting the winning demonstration, "The Secrets of a Tossed Green Salad." (Mrs. Albert Weldum Photo)

Nancy Linjala Awarded Trip To New York

Miss Nancy Linjala, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Linjala of West Rock, Marquette County, is leaving Friday, Dec. 1, by plane from Escanaba for Lansing.

On Saturday she will join the other Michigan delegates and travel with the Michigan State University bus to New York to attend the 33rd annual National Junior Horticulture Association Convention, Dec. 3-7. Headquarters will be at the Hotel New Yorker.

The delegates will be exposed to educational and entertaining tours and programs. They will compete nationally in their area with delegates from other states.

Nancy is 17, a senior at the Rock High School and has been active in the West Rock 4-H Club for the past seven years. She received her trip by being a state winner and presented a demonstration on the use of horticulture products, "The Secrets of a Tossed Green Salad."

Also going to the NJHA convention from the Upper Peninsula will be Sally Walcutt and Karen Willman of Menominee. They will be competing in the production category demonstration on "Vegetative Propagation," as a team. These young people were winners at district competition at Camp Shaw and state winners at state 4-H show at Lansing in August.

Nancy Linjala is the third young lady from Rock to attend a NJHA convention. Her sister Diane received a trip to Washington, D.C. in 1959 and Nancy Weldum went to St. Louis, Mo. in 1966.

Something that gets as hot as 200,000 degrees Fahrenheit can't be kept in an ordinary bottle. These days physicists are using "magnetic bottles" chambers that employ magnetic forces to prevent particles from escaping and making contact with the air.

And while we are on this topic of giving the annual dinner party, try using a folded bed sheet for a liner under your nice linen dinner cloth. It makes for a much more beautiful table.

Put them on, and then set your table. You won't have a single fingerprint on your beautiful silver.

Jean Trepanier Bride Of Gilbert Turnquist

Miss Jean Marie Trepanier of Marquette became the bride of Gilbert Paul Turnquist of Bark River during a ceremony performed Sunday, Nov. 18 at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Elder E. Herr officiated the nuptials at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Trepanier of Marquette and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Turnquist of Bark River.

Honor attendants for the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Mel Marquette, the bride's uncle, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Turnquist of Bark River. The bride chose a white crepe dress, length to the floor, with a white maribou feather trim at the neckline and cuffs. Her short veil, headpiece was also trimmed with white feathers and she was presented a corsage of white carnations and pink roses.

Mrs. Foll wore a royal blue knit suit with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations complimented her attire.

A wedding dinner was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents following the ceremony. Pink and white mum arrangements and pink tapers centered the dinner table.

Home in Marquette

The newlyweds will make their home at 147 Champion St., Marquette.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Marquette High School and is presently a sophomore at Northern Michigan University, majoring in special education.

Mr. Turnquist is a 1964 graduate of the Battle Creek Academy and he attended Andover University and Bay de Noc Community College. He is presently a student at NMU majoring in speech pathology.

Ensign

John WAF
Phyllis Hebert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cy Hebert of Ensign, has enlisted in the United States Women's Air Force Service. Phyllis recently left for her six weeks basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex. A 1966 graduate of Rapid River High School, she completed one year of study at Bay de Noc Community College, Escanaba and worked two summers in the UPCA office in Escanaba.

Cpl. Gibbons Home

Cpl. Tom Gibbons of the U. S. Marine Corps, was home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gibbons of Ensign after a 21-month tour of duty in Vietnam. Before returning home, Cpl. Gibbons visited with his brother, Pfc. Pat Gibbons in Okinawa. During Cpl. Gibbons' stay, he shot a four point buck weighing 150 pounds the first day of the season. Cpl. Gibbons has returned to duty at the Marine Corps Post Office at Norfolk, Va.

Lucky Hunters

Bob Gibbons, 16, shot his buck opening week of the deer season hunting near his home. Bob also got a buck last year. Ed Gibbons shot a 150 pound doe while hunting in the Ensign area.

Hjalmar Nelson bagged a trophy 10 point buck hunting near his home. His son, Mark, shot an eight pointer on opening day at Stonington.

Cindy Safford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Safford of Ensign, was home for the Thanksgiving holidays. Cindy is a sophomore at Northern Michigan University, Marquette.

HINTS FROM Heloise

BY HELOISE CRUSE
Dear Heloise:
Tell the gal not to throw away those odd or worn white cotton gloves I've found a new use for them.

They are just dandy to use when setting your table which is appointed with a lot of silver. Namely, silver trays, hollowware and silver-plated goblets.

There's nothing that makes me madder than to set the table a day ahead of time for a big dinner party. So I can spend that entire day preparing the food and then find fingerprints all over my silver. Here's where the white gloves come in.

Put them on, and then set your table. You won't have a single fingerprint on your beautiful silver.

I think you took a stab at something and won!

Another good idea is to go ahead and set the table even TWO days ahead of time, if necessary, and cover the entire caboodle with a big sheet of plastic. These plastic sheets can be bought for about 50 cents. And you can use them nineteen other places after the party.

For those of you who do not have the plastic and do not want to purchase it, set a heavy vase on each end of the table and have your husband help you gently lay a sheet over it. It works, too.

And while we are on this topic of giving the annual dinner party, try using a folded bed sheet for a liner under your nice linen dinner cloth. It makes for a much more beautiful table.

Put them on, and then set your table. You won't have a single fingerprint on your beautiful silver.

Eskymos, Braves Play Road Games

Crusaders Face Tough Weekend Cage Foes

In This Corner

With RAY CRANDALL

Boyd Dowler, 6 foot 5 inch Green Bay Packer flanker who speaks at a meeting of the Optimist Club here this evening, is sixth leading pass receiver in the National Football League this season. . . The former Colorado University quarterback, in his ninth season with Green Bay, has hauled in 45 aerials for 642 yards, an average of 14.3 per catch, and has scored three touchdowns in the current campaign.

The Marquette Iron Rangers had their United States Hockey League victory string snapped at five games by dropping a pair of overtime decisions to Rochester, 8-7 and 4-3. The Rangers will be back in action this weekend in a pair of home contests against Waterloo.

Marquette, a future Eskymo basketball foe, used a towering front line to handle city rival Marquette Catholic Central, 61-48. Randy Begotka, 6-2, and Bob Bartkowiak, 6-3½, paced the Marines in scoring with 17 points apiece.

Lake Superior State College fashioned its second straight basketball triumph of the season by downing Laurentian University at Sudbury, 84-67. . . John Barton, 6 foot 8 inch Laker center, playing before his hometown fans, scored 24 points and pulled in 17 rebounds for Coach Jack Brighton's quint.

Former Holy Name athlete Bob Britco, highly regarded freshman halfback at Northern Michigan University, finished his first season with the Wildcats varsity with 113 yards in 19 carries for a 5.9 average. . . His average was second best among all Northern runners and his total was sixth highest on the team. . . Britco was termed a "certain front line player" in Northern's future by Coach Rolfe Dotsch at the end of the regular campaign.

Coach Ray Marquardt of Kingsford has seven lettermen among 26 candidates for his wrestling team this season. The returning letter winners are seniors Terry Duval at 145, Tom Duchaine at 155, George Goettler at heavyweight and juniors Mark Edens at 180, Steve Trank at 135. . . The Flyers open their season against Peshigo tonight and have matches against both Escanaba and Holy Name.

The dean of Great Lakes Conference basketball coaches is Rudie Brandstrom who is entering his 18th year at the Emerald helm. . . Brandstrom's teams had notched 122 victories entering the current season but have dropped two straight starts this year to Ishpeming and Sault Ste. Marie.

The Holy Name Crusaders face a rugged weekend assignment as Coach John Butrymowicz' cagers seek to capture their first victory of the campaign.

Holy Name hits the road Friday night to Stephenson where Coach Guss Lord's Eagles will be playing their first game of the season. Saturday night the Crusaders return to their home court to face the Ishpeming Hematites who are off and running with two victories under new coach Gordy Farragh.

Holy Name battled Escanaba to the wire in the season opener, bowing by a 43-42 margin. In their next start the Crusaders fell behind, 27-8, in the first quarter and were never able to catch up, against Marquette Bishop Baraga, losing 77-61.

Butrymowicz has not indicated any major lineup changes for the weekend action with Terry Dufour, Dan and Chris Young, Pat Verhamme and Al Grabowski expected to start. Steve Fisher and Steve Houle both came through in double figures against Marquette, Baraga and are likely to see early action.

At Stephenson the Crusaders will face a tall team with four returning lettermen in Guss Lord (6-2), John Gunderson (6-2), Dennis Alexium (6-1) and Mark Dougovito (5-11). Five other members of the Stephenson squad are 6 feet or taller.

Ishpeming will invade the Holy Name gym with impressive victories over Manistique and Stambaugh to date. The Hematites have been paced by veterans Tom Hammar, Ed Stimac and Tom Simula who are among seven returning lettermen from last year. Hammar is 6 foot 2 and the tallest player on the squad, John Billington is 6-5.

Other weekend action on the prep basketball front will feature the Gladstone Braves at Manistique Friday night.

Coach Bill Wood's Gladstone quint spilled Negaunee, 72-58, in its season opener as Steve Nelson drilled in 28 points and Mark Stupak came through with 20. Coach Rudie Brandstrom's Manistique Emeralds have suffered a pair of setbacks to Ishpeming and Sault Ste. Marie in spite of a 75-point scoring average. Gary Sample has tallied 45 points and Bob Cowman 40 in their two starts. The Escanaba Eskymos travel to Menominee Saturday night for a Great Northern Conference tilt against the defending state Class B champs.

Both teams are 2-0 entering the contest. Coach Bill Howes' rebuilding Eskymos have tripped Holy Name and Marquette with Dan Mylander setting the scoring pace with 37 points. Howes expects to go with his regular starting lineup of Mylander and Butch LaBay up front with John Moberg and Jerry Brazeau and John Miles in the backcourt.

Menominee is regarded as the team to beat in the conference and Upper Peninsula Class B ranks. Coach Bob Krysiak has a solid nucleus of veterans back from his state championship club, including high scoring Pat Miller who has tallied 41 points in two starts. The Maroons own victories over Iron Mountain and Kingsford to date.

Other Maroon veterans back in the fold this year are Dewey Bellis (6-0), Dave Haglund (5-10), Ken Heckel (6-2) and Bob Johnson (5-10). Miller is 6-3.

Outlying schools in the area also swing back into action after the Thanksgiving lull. On Friday night Carney will invade Channing, Bark River-Harris is at Rock and Engadine travels to Cedarville.

Saturday night Hermansville hosts Channing, Big Bay de Noc meets Perkins at the Manistique gym and Engadine entertains Grand Marais.

Tigers Notch Third In Row

POWERS-SPALDING — The Powers-Spalding Tigers clawed Bark River-Harris, 74-53, for their third straight basketball victory here Tuesday night.

New coach Mike Forsberg's cagers stormed to an 18-7 cushion in the first period and were never threatened. They padded their lead to 45-13 at halftime and coasted home.

Tom Smith, 5-foot-10-inch senior who quarterbacked the Tigers to an unbeaten football season record, led the team in scoring last night with a 32-point barrage. He tossed in 14 field goals and added four free throws. Scott Riedy chipped in 14, and Tom Betters, 11, as the Tigers connected on 32 of 75 shots from the field for 43 per cent.

The Tigers had a big 39 to 24 edge in rebounding with Roger Stebbins pulling down 19. Steve Cappaert grabbed eight for the Broncos. Terry Sagataw paced the Bark River-Harris scoring with 16 points.

Bark River-Harris won the Jayvee preliminary game, 40-37. Box score:

Carney Wins Second Game

CARNEY — Coach Bob Kuntze's Carney Wolves made it two straight victories in the young basketball campaign Tuesday night when they trimmed Rock, 69-59.

The teams locked horns in a tight first period, battle in which Rock led most of the way. Carney surged late in the period for a 20-19 edge and then exploded for 25 points in the second frame for a comfortable 45-31 halftime bulge. The Wolves stretched their margin in each of the third and fourth quarters to win going away.

Four Carney players reached double scoring figures, headed by Mark Crandall with 16 points. He also led his mates in rebounding with 17.

Dan Johnson topped the Rock attack with 16 points and sophomore Tom Lippens pulled in 22 rebounds.

Carney shot at a 40 per cent clip from the field, hitting 35 of 87 attempts and added 19 of 29 from the charity line. Rock hit 27 of 70 from the field for 31 per cent and converted 15 of 23 free throw opportunities.

Carney won the Jayvee game, 63-50.

Domres Named Most Valuable At Wisconsin

Tom Domres, former Gladstone athlete, was named most valuable player and honorary captain of the University of Wisconsin football team at the annual grid banquet held in Madison Tuesday.

The 6 foot 1½ inch, 236 pound senior tackle, who has been invited to play in the annual East-West Shrine game and is eyeing a pro football career, was named earlier in the week to the All-Big Ten first team on defense. He was credited with 131 tackles in 10 games this season, tops for an interior lineman in the Big Ten.

Domres and Badger offensive backfield coach Harland Carl will speak at the annual Gladstone Rotary Club's football recognition banquet Monday, Dec. 4.

A limited supply of tickets is available to the public through Rotary Club Secretary O. H. Anderson and at the office of the school superintendent.

Schmidt Facing Passer Problem

DETROIT (AP)—Coach Joe Schmidt of the Detroit Lions still is fiddling with his quarterback problem, but a lot of people think the dilemma has solved itself.

After three losses and a tie in their last four games, the Lions do not appear to have a quarterback at all.

Schmidt said he may bench Karl Sweetan, who replaced Milt Plum as the starter early in the season, and go back to Plum for Sunday's National Football League battle with the Pittsburgh Steelers at Detroit.

"We'll probably go with Milt this week and see what happens," said Schmidt, who is emphasizing efforts to rev up his impotent passing game in practice this week.

Plum and Sweetan have completed only 128 passes in 11 games this year, for a meek average of 123 yards passing per game.

Meanwhile, the rushing game, beefed up by All-America rookie Mel Farr's 702 yards, is ranked as one of the best in the league.

The Lions, who have only nine touchdowns passing, have rolled up 1,626 yards rushing for a hefty 24.4 per carry average.

Detroit had 239 completions for 2,752 yards at the same point last year.

One of the principal reasons for the failure of Detroit's aerial game has been a recurring hamstring muscle injury suffered by All-Pro flankerback Pat Studstill.

Studstill, who caught 67 passes for 1,286 yards and five touchdowns last year, has only 10 receptions for 162 yards and two touchdowns this season. He hasn't played in six games and remains a doubtful starter for Sunday's game.

In order to try and heal the injury, Schmidt hasn't even dressed Studstill in the last two games.

"I'd rather be out on the field playing," said the slick receiver, who also leads the league in punting with a 45.4 per kick average. "But every time I run, I repull the hamstring."

The loss of Studstill has eliminated the long touchdown pass from the Detroit attack. The longest passing gain this year was a 44-yard completion to John Henderson. Last year, Studstill combined with Sweetan for a 99-yard scoring strike, tying an NFL record.

Detroit's best chance for a victory comes up with the Steelers, a team which has won only two games all season. Pittsburgh hasn't won in its last six visits to Detroit. The Lions won last year 17-3 and hold a 12-5-1 overall lifetime edge over Pittsburgh.

Farr, who is the leading pass receiver with 26 catches for 187 yards, is approaching the Lions single season rushing mark of 872 yards set by Nick Pietrosante in 1960. The swift halfback from UCLA needs only 170 yards in Detroit's final three games to crack the mark.

Huskies Enter Hockey Tourney

DETROIT (AP)—Host Michigan Tech will be pitted against North Dakota, New Hampshire, and Western Ontario in the third annual Great Lakes Invitational college hockey tournament at Detroit's Olympia Stadium Dec. 20-21. Defending champion Michigan was unable to return to this year's tournament because of a schedule conflict.

Pairings for the tournament have not been announced but winners of the first night's games will meet in the championship with the losers playing a consolation match.

Comets Extend String Of Central Victories To 20 In Three Years

EBEN — The Trenary Comets extended their Central League victory string to 20 games here Tuesday night by sideling a tough Eben quint, 61-54.

Coach Steve Ellis' defending Central League champs won 15 straight conference games last year and two on the end of the 1966 season to go with their three straight opening the current campaign. They haven't lost a Central contest since bowing to Rapid River, 65-54, on Feb. 11, 1966.

It took a torrid scoring spurt in the final four minutes here last night to extend the winning string. Eben had trailed by a 35-28 halftime margin but fought back to tie the score at 51-51 midway through the final period.

Four players in double figures gave Trenary a balanced scoring attack with Jim Cayer hitting 16 points, Jack Mikulich 15, Tim Harris 12 and Greg Begovac 11. Mikulich and Harris teamed up for 23 rebounds against the taller Eagles who were guilty of 20 turnovers in the contest.

Ken Korpi and Pete Niemi topped the Eben scoring list with 13 and 12 points. Eben won the Jayvee preliminary game, 59-57.

Reggie Harding
Cut By Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Reggie Harding, who was bought by the Chicago Bulls from the Detroit Pistons in October, was placed on waivers Tuesday.

Dick Klein, owner of Chicago's National Basketball Association club, said that he cut the 6-foot-10 Harding "to streamline our roster to 10 players."

"We acquired him in hopes he would give us a big lift when playing against teams with big power centers," said Klein. "With over one fourth of our schedule now completed, it is evident that the kind of contribution that we had hoped for did not materialize."

What should you ask of a bottle of whiskey?

We think you ought to ask for your money's worth. And to us that means three things.

Taste that suits you. Quality you can be proud to serve your friends.

And quality that never varies. Bottle to bottle.

Year to year.

Maybe you've already found all this in one bottle.

But if you have your doubts remember this:

For the past 20 years

Seagram's 7 Crown has been the best-selling whiskey in the nation.

Last year alone

it far outsold the next two best-sellers combined.

We haven't built that kind of success by giving people less than the best.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE with Major Heeples OUT OUR WAY

by J. R. Williams

Harbor Group To Be Named

Appointment of a harbor improvement committee, to consist of 3-5 members is scheduled by the City Council.

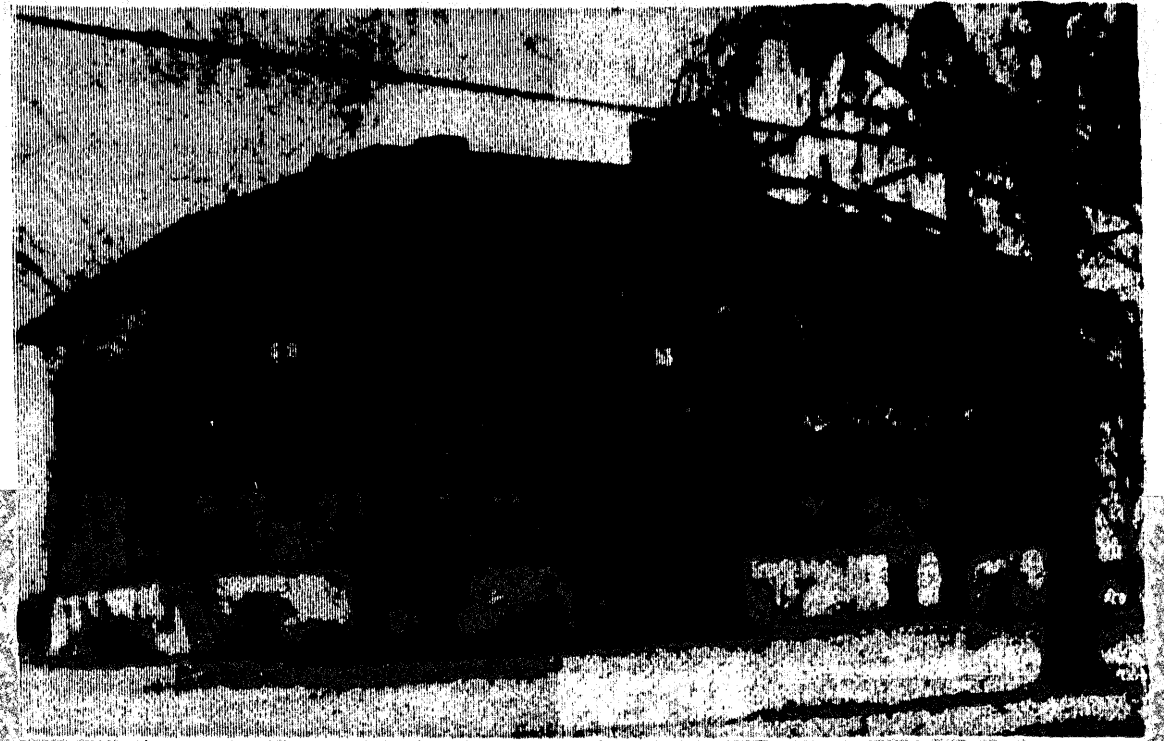

The Michigan Waterway Commission has suggested the committee be named as it works with the city on plan for harbor improvement and recreation area development.

Approval was given to finance a $2500 loan for 14 months at not more than four per cent for the balance of the $4200 the city is paying for a sno-go.

Tor Regue was named legislative contact man for the Michigan Municipal League in 1968.

As the second meeting in December would fall on Dec. 25, the date was changed to Dec. 18.

MANISTIQUE

LAKESIDE SCHOOL in Manistique is to be replaced with a new school, to be built with funds in a school construction and repair fund and a special voted levy on the present Lakeside School site. The board of education asked the architect to obtain final cost figures, following bid opening, as costs were higher than anticipated. The Board will meet Dec. 6 to receive the final plans. The board has stipulated the cost is not to exceed $210,000. (Daily Press Photo)

Canada's Logging Camps Keep Fame For Fine Food

Changing times in the timber industry are reflected in a publication of the Canadian Pulp & Paper Assn. which states: "In a typical lumber camp, the dinner menu may offer: soup, pig's feet, stew, roast beef, sausages, cold ham, head cheese, chocolate walnut pie, sugar pie, apple sauce, prunes, custard and lemon pie, cake, biscuits, milk, tea and coffee."

Some of the camps have a cafeteria style and some have waitresses.

Many companies operate cooking schools and every aspect of nutrition in the woods is approached on a scientific basis. Living conditions vary with the location and harvesting methods involved.

In the company logging camps and those of larger contractors, often operated under company supervision, conditions approximate standard urban levels, the Association reported.

The report notes "The lumberjack is part of the fabric of Canada's history. In his checked shirt and high boots, he strides through legend and song, and he comes as close as anyone does to being an authentic Canadian folk figure."

German Auto Building Off

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — West Germany produced 20.9 per cent fewer motor vehicles in the first 10 months of 1967 than during the comparable period last year, the Automobile Industry Association reported Tuesday night.

The association said automotive production during the period this year totaled 2,039,839 units, compared with 2,568,270 a year ago.

In Service

Army Pvt. David F. Frazier, 20, son of Mrs. Beatrice Mary Frazier, Naubinway, was assigned as a generator mechanic with Headquarters Battery of the 7th Artillery's 3rd Battalion near Schweinfurt, Germany.

Ancient Egypt worshiped birds and used their images as characters in hieroglyphics. Thousands of mummified birds have been found in burial vaults.

Paul Bunyan stories. "Paul" came upon Johnny Triskinger sitting on a mill log, figuring on a great sheet of paper. Behind his right ear were 13 pencils. On the tip of his long nose was an eraser. Paul hired him for a bookkeeper. The first year he saved nine barrels of ink by not crossing the 1's or dotting the i's. Once during a rush season he used two fountain pens, fed by a hose from a barrel of ink, and he wrote with a pen in each hand.

Yard of Tin

"Paul" was camp boss and he decided that there should be a dinner horn to call the crew to meals. The first time the new horn was blown Big Joe blew it straight out and knocked down a couple sections of timber and blew some of the lumberjacks so far from camp they did not get back until after breakfast the following day. The next time Big Joe blew it straight up in the air, but that caused cyclones and storms at sea. So Paul decided it wasn't a success and he sold it to a railway company, which used it to make a tin roof for a Union Station."

Or:

"Paul's logging camp was on a large scale. Around one camp, the prune pits used to get so thick that it took 24 ox teams to haul them away. The pits were dumped in the woods and the chipmunks ate them and grew so big the loggers shot them for tigers."

A hundred years after the French acquired possession, timbers began to be used for ships. After the British conquest, the timbers went into making ships of the Royal Navy.

Export Much

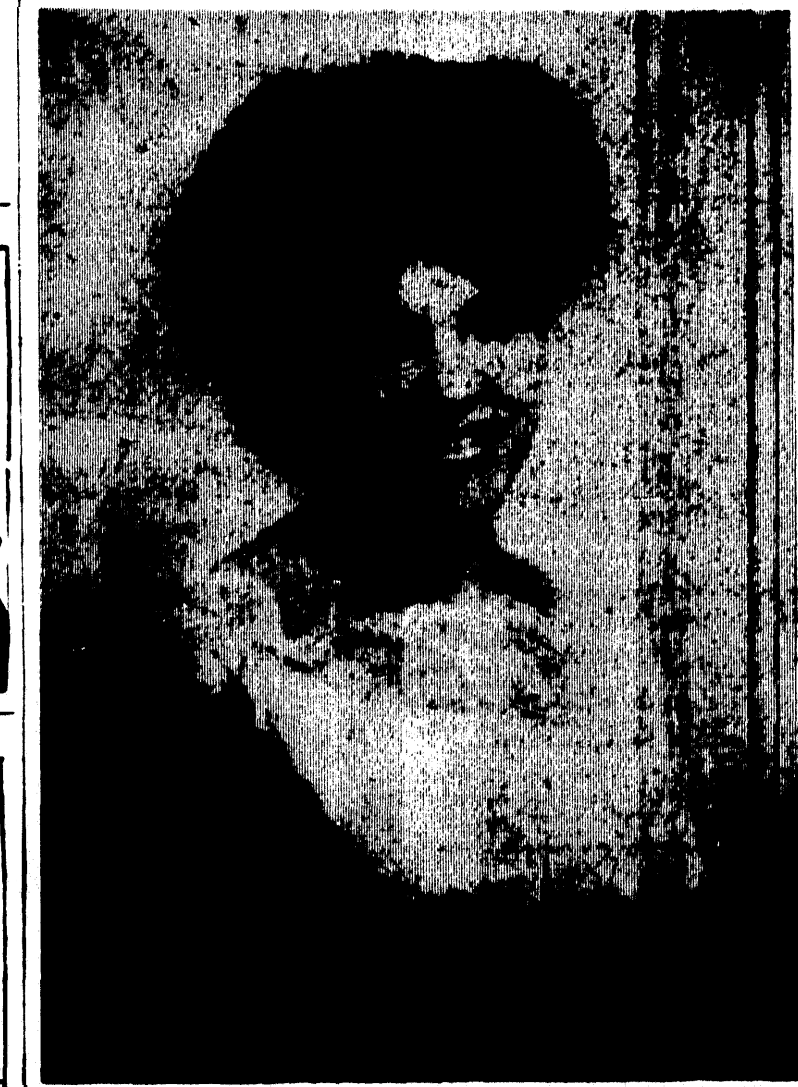

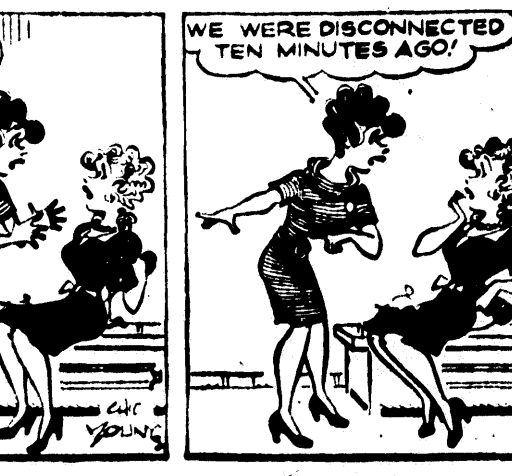

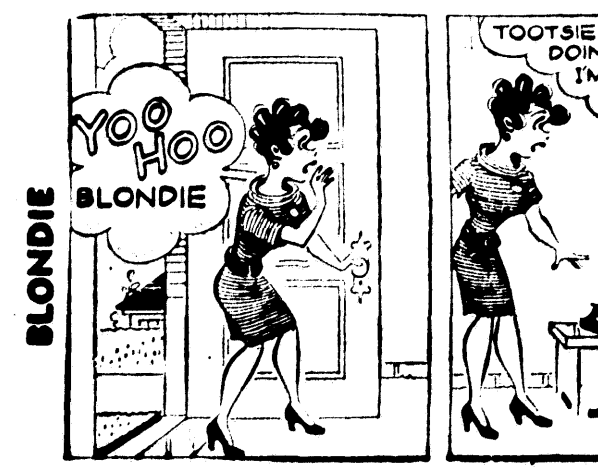

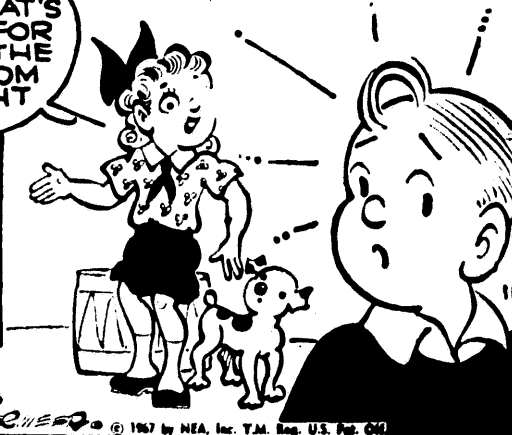

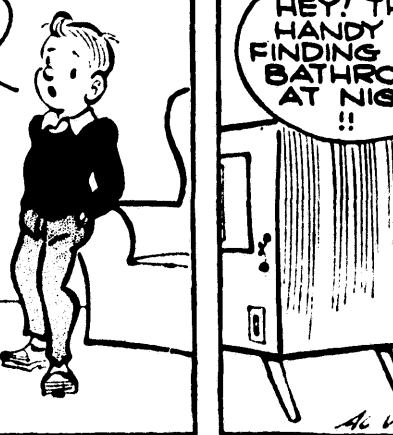

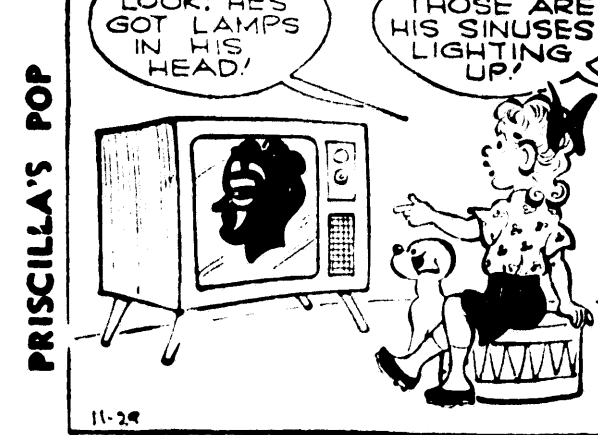

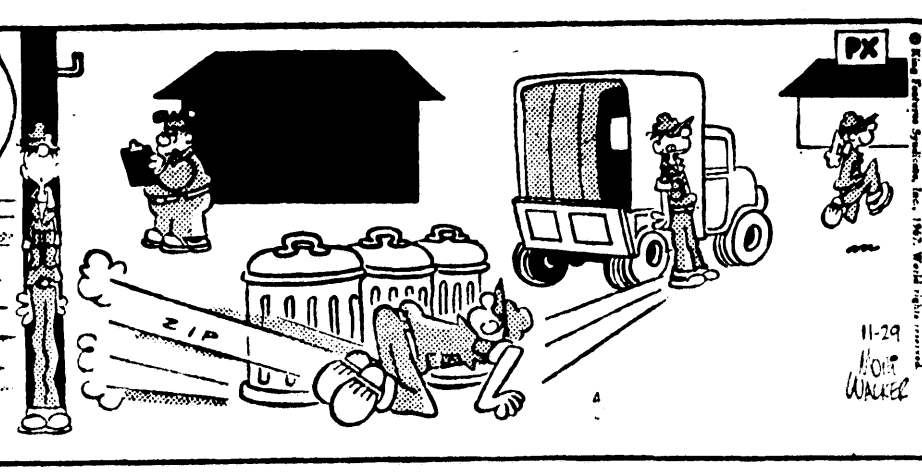

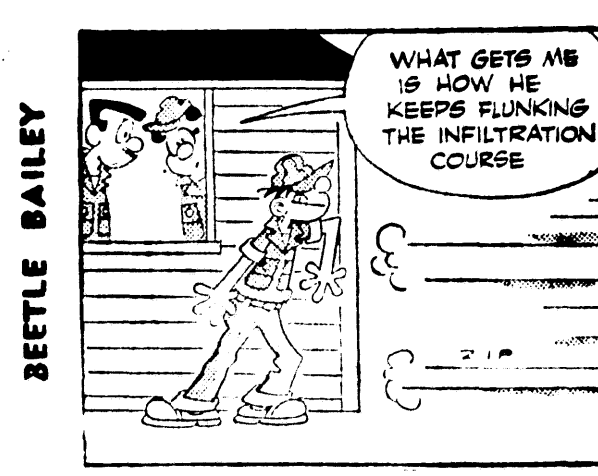

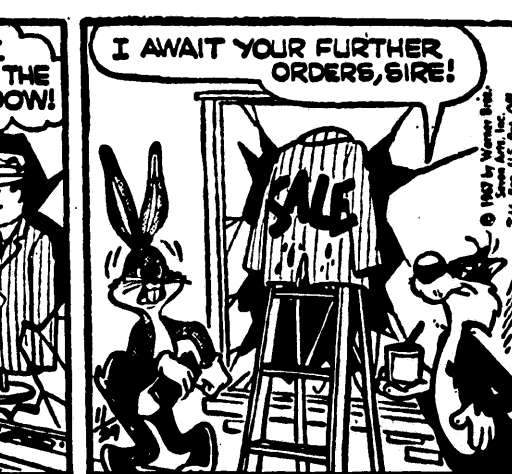

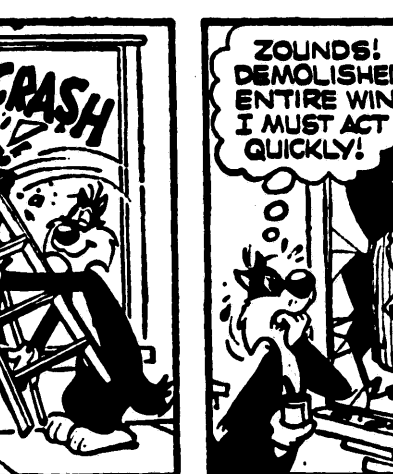

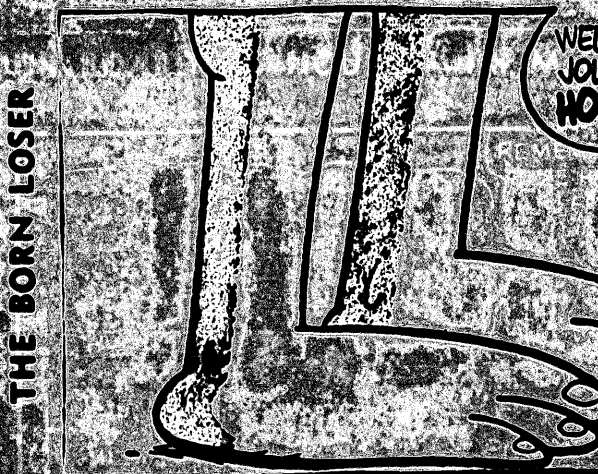

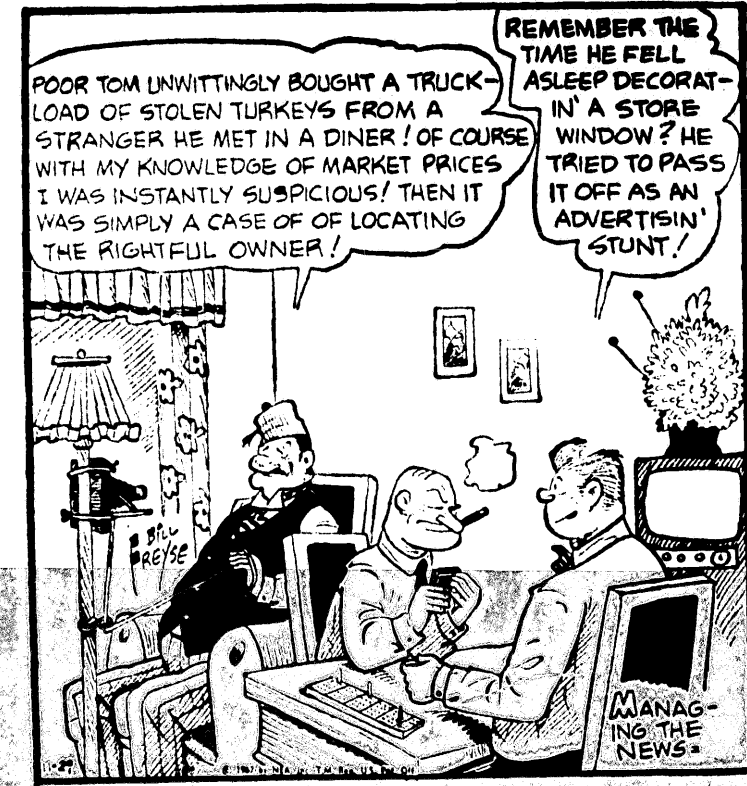

Today a fourth of Canada's exports are wood products and
